POSITIVE IMPACT MANIFESTO

Courageously Amplifying Our Positive Impact So That The World Can Flourish and Thrive into the Future

The World Needs You!

Our people and planet are in need of each of us. Together we can do this. We can create ripples to create a much healthier world - the physical landscape, the thinking space, and the emotional field.

You will identify and put your values and purpose into action. This will take commitment. This will take a new way of doing things and bringing people onboard. This will model the way and create ripples out to those whose lives you touch. They will then have an example of how to positively ripple out yet to and with more others.

You will multiply your goodness in the world through your intentional actions based on your clarity and knowing. What you do is noticed and gets amplified through others. You will do the work to be noticed in a way that others can align to. You will look back on your life and say "Well done! Who you were and how you made your unique contribution for the benefit of others, future generations, and the health of the planet made it all worthwhile!"

You are part of a collective "We" that is not satisfied with sitting back and solely relying on others to make the impact that we need to make to ensure our survival requirements. We are not satisfied with the idea that future generations may need to live off of the planet. We are determined to make change through our own contributions and by putting our heads and hearts together to bring to bright light our positive, collective impact. This is at home, at work, and societally, one step at a time.

You can create a space for open dialogue. You can create an environment for you and others to share thoughts, opinions, and beliefs respectfully. You and we can thereby evolve to a new level of consciousness to solve the problems that need to be solved for the survival of ourselves, our families, communities and organizations, and of our future generations and our planet.

You are amazing, capable, and more powerful than you know. Your actions have an impact. The world needs your positive impact more than ever before. You can create ripple effects that will make a positive difference for present and future generations.

---

When you act at the moment based on the future you want to contribute to creating, the world and all the living beings in it have the potential to flourish and thrive for many more years to come than would be possible without your intentional thoughts, leadership and action.
